This page advises you about our policies concerning the collection, use and disclosure of the personal information we receive from users of the website.

We use your Personal Information only for providing and improving the Site. By using this website you consent and agree to the collection and use of information in accordance with this policy.

Information Collection and Use

The only information we collect which can identify you is the data you input to the 'Contact Us' forms. No other information is obtained which can identify you personally and we do not pass any personal information to organisations for the purposes of marketing or other uses. If you click on any social media buttons information will be provided to them in accordance with your settings within these sites.

Data

Like many website operators, we collect information that your browser sends whenever you visit our website. This data does not allow us to identify you personally and no personal data is passed on to other organisations.

This cookie data may include information such as your computer's Internet Protocol ("IP") address, browser type and version, the date and time you visit, the pages of the website that you visit and other general statistics.

We may use third party analytical services such as Google Analytics that collect, monitor and analyse this data. This data is completely anonymous and does not include personal information such as your name or email address.

Cookies

We use cookies to collect information and to provide security. Cookies are files sent from a server to your computer or mobile device with small amounts of data, which may include an anonymous unique identifier. This data can aid the use of the website in the future by remembering the settings you previously used and the pages you visited.

You can instruct your browser to refuse all cookies or to indicate when a cookie is being sent. If you wish to disable cookies then please use your browser's (Chrome, Google, Firefox etc.) menu. If you do not accept cookies, you may not be able to use some portions of our website.
